

CHAPEL MEMORIES

Foreword

"Chapel Memories" 1961 is here to bring to you a pictorial record of the year's events at Gray's Chapel High School.

We have worked, we have played, we have gained; and, perhaps, we have lost. Always we have increased in "wisdom and stature."

This is your year. Remember it long. There are, here, only a few memories; we cannot name them all. Many will be found in "Chapel Memories" for 1961; others can be found only in our hearts.

Dedication

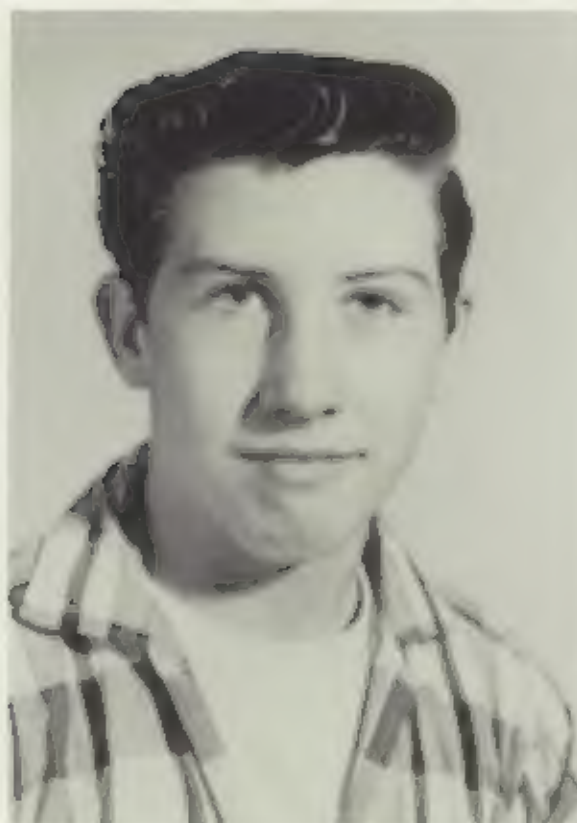

Mr. James R. Maus

We, the Beta Club, do lovingly dedicate the 1961 edition of "Chapel Memories", to James R. Maus.

Here at Chapel for nine years, we have found him to be a great person. His years of challenging young people, of inspiring the average ones, and giving hope and faith to the "slow" ones have made him so. He will be remembered by many grateful people who found him to be not only a teacher, but a friend as well. He has brushed the lives of many men; they will not forget.

- - - - O YOU, WHO THE WILDEST YEARN
FOR THE OLD-TIME STEP AND THE GLAD RETURN,

Class History

In the fall of 1949, we the graduating class of 1961, composed of 21 girls and 20 boys, began our school career, overcoming obstacles and downfalls as the journey proceeded.

Our first years were spent preparing and training us for a higher and more superior learning. As we look back, we recall all the fond memories which are associated with these years, as well as each one of the teachers who has helped us thus far.

We'll never forget the many happy and thrilling trips we took on the activity bus, the hikes we experienced, the parties we attended, and the mischievous deeds which we committed; as the time when we were in the fourth grade, and one of our fellow students had the bright idea of blindfolding everyone and letting him walk around the room. This resulted in having to stay in during our play period because we broke a vase on the teacher's desk during the meantime.

But as the years passed, and we grew in knowledge and in wisdom; we soon approached the long awaited day which had been our dream, "The day of entering high school." This was a completely different change; for as busy as our past years had seemed, this was even busier. There were the class officers to elect, all the club meetings to attend, the activities such as basketball and baseball to participate in, the excitement of the Jr.-Sr. Banquet, and the joyful day our class rings arrived.

With such a busy routine, we seemed to let time slip away; and before we knew it, our first three years of high school had flown by, and we were Seniors.

This is a year that is packed with many memories which we will always cherish; for it not only opens doors to another world, but it also closes doors on old and precious memories. But as we take our places in that other world, we shall always have a spot in our hearts for the days and years and hours we spent at Gray's Chapel High School and the friends we made during those years.

Class Prophecy

The members of the Class of 1961 will soon bid farewell to each other, going their separate ways in pursuit of that which fate holds in store for them. Without doubt, each class member will be curious concerning the successfulness of fellow classmates.

I, as a member of the Class of 1961, and having personally dealt with each class member, do now wish to speculate on the life of each individual 10 years from graduation night.

Joyce Almond is now a real Queen to her high school King and has a Prince and Princess for a crowning touch.

John Trotter is an available bachelor and will remain that way until one who appreciates his quiet manner and dependable ways appears.

Rebecca Pugh is hard at work keeping her husband in used cars.

Ralph York liked those Franklinville girls so well that he now has taken up permanent residence with one.

Routh Pugh is co-owner of a drive-in by the name of "Tommy's" near Julian, N. C.

Billy Boyd is a salesman for a car insurance company. His personal dealings with the company account mostly for his success.

Mary Shelton now has a husband to go along with the sparkling diamond she acquired in her senior year of high school.

Mitchell Beane is a math teacher in a large high school. He finally stopped worrying and went "beat".

Nancy Jones is a registered nurse currently on the staff of Randolph Hospital.

Larry Salmon, who always was enchanted by the fundamentals of English in high school, is still trying to figure it out.

Judy Jennings is happily married and has a number one job of caring for her husband and household.

Bobby Jenkins's desire to read inspired him to establish one of the largest libraries in Greensboro.

Barbara Martin felt that the Air Force appealed to her so much that she now is traveling with an individual branch of the service.

Michael Foust, after making All-American at college, is now head basketball coach at N. C. State.

Elaine Moffitt is owner and operator of "Elaine's" beauty salon at Millboro, N. C.

Phillip Julian's experience as a service station attendant led him to establish his own Esso station at Central Falls, N. C.

Sue Lovell proofreads papers for her printer husband and enjoys it more than she did grading science papers in high school.

Ray Cox is married to a child bride and pursues a career of dishwashing and baby-sitting.

Vivian Anderson takes private shorthand for a lawyer by the name of Jones.

Donald Craven lives at Franklinville with his wife of recent acquisition.

Lynda Blake is a home economics teacher and is still waiting for that lucky man to fall for her great cooking.

Billy Garner is asleep in class at a school of culture.

Linda Fields is a Wac and waiting for a G.I. who likes to travel to come along.

Ronnie Pugh is the owner of a private parking lot.

Susie Martin is a hair stylist who enjoys changing her own hair color.

Doris Dunn is a high paid model for an agency up North.

George Hinshaw has progressed from curb hopping to cook at a drive-in.

Gertrude Burrow is searching for a man to share her interests and money.

Darrell Cox owns his own chewing gum company and chews the largest wad of gum around.

Danny Lovell is married to his high school sweetheart and still gets stuck-up a lot, a habit carried over from driving his school bus.

Ellen Freeman now does professional art work.

Jimmy Routh, who could always break up class with a joke, is now M.C. on a T.V. quiz program.

Ruth Allred is one of the most sought after unmarried girls in the office where she works.

Eddie Allred owns a farm of his own and is an available bachelor.

Judy Jenkins owns a car lot and drives a T-bird herself.

Robert Burrow is a reserved "white-collar" man for an insurance agency.

Mary Routh's musical background enabled her to acquire a soloist lead for an opera company.

Billy Ferree graduated from Bob Jones University and is now one of the most intellectual soda jerks in Asheboro.

Louise Kime is a song writer who recently had a hit tune that is still rocking the country.

Ernest Kinley is one of the most reckless race car drivers in the nation.

Virginia York decided that this business of fortune telling definitely wasn't for her and pursues a career of journalism for a local newspaper.

Cast Will And Testament

We, the Senior Class of 1961, being of sound minds and good intentions, do hereby, willingly and happily, bequeath our talents and possessions to those who may need them. We do hereby declare this our last will and testament.

I, Louise Kime, will my driving ability to my brother Richard in hopes that he will put it to good use when he gets that car.

I, Judy Jenkins, will a share of stock that I have at one of the Asheboro loan companies to Mr. Bortner.

I, Lynda Blake, will my short, blond, curly hair to Dailene Shelar.

I, Linda Fields, will my athletic abilities to Ann Ellis.

I, Ruth Allred, will my superlative, "Biggest Flirt", to Pat Williams because I do not need it as bad as Pat does.

I, Billy Boyd, will my ability to play the part of "Charming Billy" to Fred Cox.

I, Gertrude Burrow, will my ability to get along with Mr. Bortner to Mary Faye Hancock.

I, Mike Foust, will my muscular build to R. P. Routh.

I, Danny Lovell, will my ability to get along with Coach York to Arnold Trodgon.

I, Elaine Moffitt, will my superlative, "Best Dressed", to Brenda Routh; and I hope she will succeed in achieving it next year.

I, Mary Routh, will my ability to play the piano to Bonna Cockman since Bonna has already had several failures.

I, Billy Garner, will my position as Mr. Thomas's office boy to J. W. Kirkman.

I, Barbara Martin, will my French book to Mrs. Corder, hoping that she will find more use for it than I have.

I, Larry Salmon, will my beat-up and fist-controlled typewriter to Dixie Junkyard at Asheboro.

I, Jimmy Routh, will the headaches I got in English class to Miss Neece, but I'm taking my jokes with me because she never did appreciate them.

I, Ronnie Pugh, will my bus "104" to Wayne Coward along with a Sears and Roebuck driver's license as an extra bonus.

I, Donald Craven, will my used book reports to my sister Alease as they belong to her in the first place.

I, Billy Ferree, will my latest publication, TEN EASY STEPS TO GLASSPOLISHING, to my past chemistry advisor.

I, Ray Cox, will my girlfriends and worries they have given me to Wallace Fields.

I, Mary Shelton, will my ability to retain my composure in public to Irene Brady.

I, Sue Lovell, will my position as Mr. Bortner's secretary to some unsuspecting student.

I, Virginia York, will my job as Gray's Chapel's correspondent for the Courier Tribune to anyone who will take it, because at present no one will.

I, Mitchell Beane, will my ability to resist feminine charms to J. W. Kirkman so that his worries will be fewer.

I, Vivian Anderson, will my ability to be late to anyone who can be as late as I have always been.

I, Routh Pugh, will all the food I didn't eat in home economics class to Larry Pennington.

I, Rebecca Pugh, will my position on the basketball team to anyone who has the patience to lose that many games.

I, Joyce Almond, will my ability to get along with the bus driver of 114 to Bonna Cockman because she needs it.

I, Phillip Julian, do hereby leave.

I, George Hinshaw, will my large supply of chewing gum to Miss Neece.

I, Darrell Cox, will my superlative, "Most Reckless", to Phil Andrew.

I, Ellen Freeman, will my seat beside the radiator in the typing room to anyone who expects to do much typing next winter.

I, Doris Dunn, will my figure to Irene Brady.

I, Eddie Allred, will my superlative, "Most Dependable", to Bobby Brady.

I, Ralph York, will my U. S. History book to Mr. Bortner since I had to take it for two years.

I, Robert Burrow, will my ability to be quiet to Jimmy Boyd.

I, John Trotter, will my typewriter to anyone who can make it work.

I, Bobby Jenkins, will my love of reading to R. P. Routh.

I, Ernest Kinley, will my ability to sleep on class to Louis Ward for doing such a superb job in geometry.

I, Sylvia Martin, will my ability to have a good disposition, even if I do stay in trouble, to Mary Faye Hancock; and I hope she uses it to the best of her ability.

I, Judy Jennings, will my ability to get into trouble in the library to Gladys Swaim and hope she has better luck than I.

1960 Randolph County Miss Merry Christmas

Vivian Anderson

This year, Randolph County, for the first time, held its Miss Merry Christmas Contest. Seven girls from throughout the county participated. The girls were judged on personality and attractiveness. Each girl rode in the annual Christmas Parade in Asheboro, and immediately after, Vivian was crowned on the courthouse steps by Sylvia Williams, Queen of Randolph.

Also in the parade were six lovely girls from Chapel, riding on commercial floats.

Miss Merry Christmas (Vivian Anderson) Is Active Home-Type Girl

Will Reign Over Yule Season Here GCHS Senior Holiday Queen

A petite 17-year-old blonde from Grays Chapel High School is the city's first "Miss Merry Christmas."

Vivian Anderson, a GCHS senior, was chosen to reign over the holiday season during the season opening parade here Friday afternoon.

Placing second and third in the competition, among seven girls representing the town's of Randolph County, were Margie Chrisco of Asheboro and Sharon Mathis, Miss Trinity.

Miss Anderson received a holly-trimmed crown in brief ceremonies conducted at the courthouse steps, at the conclusion of the parade Friday.

"Miss Merry Christmas" was crowned by Silvia Williams, reigning Queen of Randolph, after the seven girls had been introduced to a crowd of several hundred persons watching from the courthouse lawn.

John C. Bunch, Mayor of Asheboro, and Ira L. McDowell, chairman of the Randolph County Board of Commissioners, spoke before the coronation, giving the audience a welcome and holiday greetings.

Also introduced to the crowd was Judi Kapple, former Miss North Carolina who was honorary marshal for the holiday parade.

The other contestants in the "Miss Merry Christmas" contest were Pat Christenberry, Miss Randleman; Betty Jones of Ramseur; Candy Hammond of Farmer and Peggy Rae Moon of Franklinville.

The girls were rated by a panel of five judges on basis of personality and attractiveness.
